The Total Solar Eclipse.

The total solar eclipse of the 17th of May was successfully observed by English, French and Italian parties at So-ham, a village in Lower Egypt, on the Nile. The duration of totality at that point was only seventy-two seconds, but the observers did prompt and efficient work in this short space of time. The telegraph swiftly bore the record of their labors to our Western World, and the first fruits include the view of a comet near the sun, indications of a lunar atmosphere, and a photograph of the spectrum of the corona.

The precious seconds when the sun's face was hidden by the moon's dark shadow revealed in the first place a comet near the sun. It could not be a Comet  $\alpha$  or Comet Wells, for that much talked of visitor to Northern skies would not reach perihelion until the 10th of June, and had, therefore, three weeks' time in which to speed its course to the near neighborhood of the great luminary. It will be comforting to those who have borrowed trouble from its close approach to the solar fires to know that another comet, eluding the grasp of terrestrial observers, is safely circling around the magnet of the system without let or hindrance. It has not thus far fallen into the sun to add fuel to his flames and bring destruction to the earth. It will doubtless keep on its harmless course and pass with quickened step beyond solar bounds to star-depths unfathomable, as myriad other comets have done before and will do again, for observation confirms the theory that space is full of comets, meteors and in-tangible forms of matter. A small portion of the mighty army becomes visible in the form of comets and meteors, but the invisible denizens of space far exceed those that are visible. For every comet that spans the sky with its gossamer tail millions pass over our heads unseen. For every meteor that falls upon our world millions of millions fall upon other worlds, while vain would be the effort to form any idea of the infinite numbers of those that fall upon our sun, or the countless suns of space. The comet seen near the darkened sun has been photographed, and the picture of the daring intruder in solar domains will form a study of attractive interest.

The second item coming from the eclipse observers is more astounding than the first, for the darkening of the lines of the spectrum, as seen by the French astronomers, gives indication of a lunar atmosphere. If this observation is substantiated there will be a revolution in existing ideas concerning lunar physics. Our nearest celestial neighbor, the moon, at least the side turned toward the earth, has for a long time been considered the abode of desolation, her purpose in the material economy, accomplished, a dead world, a symbol of the fate in reserve for the earth in the slow revolution of ages. Years ago an observer detected a rosy cloud floating over the lunar crater Linnæus, but the phenomenon was looked upon by more staid astronomers as a flight of fancy. A few years ago an observer in one of the Western States detected a change of form and an appearance of volcanic action around one of the moon craters, but the scientific world in general considered it an optical illusion. It may be that these observers were not so far out of the way, though the startling discovery will not be accepted without strong proof to verify it. Those who are best acquainted with the moon as seen in the telescope will be slow to believe in the slightest manifestation of life on her chaotic surface.

One more meager item closes the first bulletin from the eclipse expeditions.
It is that the spectrum of the corona was photographed for the first time.
We may, therefore, hope for increased knowledge of the constitution of the sun's magnificent appendage, seen only in a total eclipse, so grandly beautiful as to make the beholder feel like veiling his eyes in the celestial presence.

The corona, with its silvery light, its spreading wings, its circles, arches and curves stretching out into fathomless depths around the darkened sun, is considered as one of the most impressive and awe-inspiring sights in which celestial majesty and grandeur are ever embodied. Its constituents and office in solar economy are problems whose solution is much desired.

The English eclipse expedition observing at Soham, with Prof. Lockyer as the chief director, laid out an organized plan of operations. Some of their points of observation were to note if the abundance and activity of the rosy pro-tuberances gave proof of the present disturbed condition of the sun while passing through its maximum period of sun spots; to compare and detect the difference in the spectra of rosy flames and sun spots; to get an idea of the physics of the solar atmosphere—that is, to find what it looks like, to study—if the expression may be used—its circulatory system; and to determine its chemical nature, especially if the chemical elements existing in the sun are dissociated or separated by the intense temperature existing there. Special attention is now directed to solar physics and chemistry, in consequence of the bold and ingenious theory of Dr. Siemens on the conservation of solar energy.

Photography was greatly relied upon in the solution of these intricate problems, and so much have methods improved in the rapidity with which the image can be impressed on the sensitized plate that seconds will now record more than minutes did twenty years ago. The telescope and the spectroscope combined with the photograph in the attack on the sun's surroundings during the eclipse.—Scientific American.

Voracious Swamps.

The "Tamarack Swamps," near Sharpsville, Pa., were supposed to be an innocent sort of bog until the New York, Pennsylvania & Ohio Railroad Company undertook to lay a solid roadbed across them. At first a few thousand cubic yards of earth were dumped upon the surface by the contractor with careless generosity, as much as if to say:
"That will satisfy your appetite, my soft friend." But when the earth immediately disappeared and left no trace behind coarser diet was substituted.
The company purchased from a furnace the accumulated cinders of ten years, and since January about 5,000 car-loads of this substantial provender have been dropped into the swamp's voracious maw without visibly decreasing its capacity. Occasionally at night there are evidences of repletion, but in the morning the murky water presents an unruffled face and asks for more.

—Venezuela celebrates her centenary July 24, 1883, and the arrangements have been made for an international festival beginning on that day, which is the 100th anniversary of the birth of Bolivar, the Liberator, and ending August 2. The proclamation of the national holiday in honor of Bolivar and the ensuing festival invites the United States to join with Venezuela in the celebration, and sets apart the 31st day of July to the exclusive purpose of offering "admiration and homage to the great North American Republic," by unveiling a colossal statue of Washington, "The father of the great people who founded Republican institutions in the New World as a model to the Spanish-American nations."—N. Y. Sun.

The iron mills at Pittsburg, resumed work to-day.

The Colorado Democrats have nominated J. B. Grant for Governor, and expect to announce his election to the office.

The Greenback Labor party, of New York City have elected J. W. Franklin, a brick-layer, as their candidate for Mayor.

SIXTY new cases of fever and two deaths at Pensacola. Eighteen new cases and one death occurred at Brownsville, Texas.

It is telegraphed from New York that Jay Gould has got control of four of the seven papers of that city which own the associated press, and thereby will control the news of the country. The Herald bitterly denounces the scheme.

The Commission in session at Louisville to investigate the affairs of the Insane Asylum at Anchorage, under the management of Dr. Gale, it is understood, will make a report exonerating that gentleman from the charge of wholesale cruelty. A strong case has, however, been made against the keeper Maddox who, it is alleged, caused the death of one of the patients recently by ducking, and he will doubtless receive the punishment he deserves. The public expect that these institutions shall be conducted on humane principles and will tolerate no other kind of management.

Where's the Sense of It?

Clara Bell, in one of her letters from Long Branch, writes:
Manners and customs haven't changed much since I wrote from this place a year ago. Lounging, dancing, bathing, flirting—all these go on as they used to. Some of the girls have got married. The beauty who was being courted by a wealthy Cuban has married him. They and I are under the same hotel roof. He is most ceremonious towards his bride. You would suppose from seeing them together that they were mere acquaintances. Yet she is a naturally jolly, good-natured girl, and ought to have a husband of that same sort. They have separate bedrooms, after the fashion of his country, and I am told that he never intrudes into her apartment without first ceremoniously asking for an invitation. Deference to a wife is all right, but where's the sense of going through so much formality every few hours.

Hon. J. Proctor Knott is Interviewed.

Extract from Courier-Journal Interview.
"Did you see the letter from Lexington in the Evening Post last week, in which it was intimated that there was a suspicion with some in that section of some sort of combination between yourself and Judge Hargis?"

"Yes, I saw it, and I must say that such a suspicion is as foolish as it is unfounded. To those who know me as you do it doesn't rise to the dignity of decent nonsense. I have not seen Judge Hargis since I thought of becoming a candidate, nor have I had any communication with him on any subject whatever, directly or indirectly; consequently I have no more idea of his intentions than you have yourself. I hope he will support me, as I hope all good men may, and, if he should, I don't see why my bitterest enemy should refuse to vote for me on that account. The fact is I expect to receive a liberal support from those who are opposed to Judge Hargis, as well as from those who are his friends and I should think that either would look upon an attempt to excite an unreasonable prejudice against me through their friendship or enmity toward him, as a gross and infamous insult to their manhood and intelligence."

The Maysville Fair, we are pleased to say, was a financial success, the receipts amounting to more than $1,500 over and above all expenses. The showing is very gratifying to the gentlemen who had charge of the management.

The case of Mrs. E. Dunn against the Kentucky Central railroad, claiming damages for the death of her son, caused by falling from a train, was continued by the Nicholas circuit court until the next term. The amount claimed is $10,000.

THERE was a strong feeling among the crowd present at the fair on Saturday that the judges made a mistake in awarding the premium for the finest and handsomest two-horse turnout. The ribbon would have been placed elsewhere could the visitors present have made the decision.

CHARLES CORNELIUS and Jas. Williams, colored, were arrested Sunday night by Deputies Marshal Dawson and Skinner, on the charge of having entered the house of Mr. John R. Masterson, of this county, on the 21st inst., and stolen from $120 to $140. Their examination will take place before Mayor January to-day.

FIFTH AND LAST DAY.

A Large Crowd in Attendance.—Nannie Talbot wins the Purse for Horses that had Never Trotted Better than 2:40.

The last day of the Second Annual Meeting of the M. A. and M. Association was the brightest and most pleasant of the meeting. The exhibition of horses in the arena far surpassed that of any previous day. The following is a list of the premiums awarded on the last day.

HORSES FOR ALL PURPOSES.

Best stallion 4 years old and over, A W Thompson, of Maysville, premium $20.
Best stallion 3 years old and under 4, T S Gaines, of Georgetown, premium $15.
Best stallion 2 years old and under 3, Dick Young, of Maysville, premium $10.
Best mare 4 years old and over, Northcott & German, of Florence, Ky., premium $20.
Best mare 3 years old and under 4, Robt Litter, of Augusta, Ky., premium $15.
Best mare 2 years old and under 3, Harvey Thomas of Millersburg, Ky., premium $10.

SWEETSTAKES FOR ALL PURPOSES.

Best stallion of any age, Fletcher Mann of Carlisle, Ky., premium $15.
Best mare of any age, to Henry Thorne of Millersburg, Ky., premium $15.
Finest and best stallion, with 4 of his get, to F M Tolle of Germantown, Ky., premium $20.
Fastest racing horse, mare or gelding, to Ed Johnson, of Germantown, Ky., premium $20.

RIDING.

Boy riders under 14 years of age.
1st premium to Thomas Goff, of Dover, $7.
2nd premium to Alvin Davis, of Lewisburg, Ky., amount $5.
3rd premium to H L Mannen, of Mason county, amount $3.
Best gentleman equestrian, to T S Gaines, of Georgetown, Ky., premium $15.
Finest and handsomest two-horse turnout, a gold lined tripple plated silver water service to W W Baldwin, Jr. of Mason county, Ky.

The race in the class for horses that had never trotted better than 2:40, proved the most exciting and hotly contested of the meeting. There were only four horses to start, Nannie Talbot, Stranger, Jim Hill and Bonnie Wilkes. In the first heat Jim Hill was the winner in 2:32½. Stranger won the second in 2:28, which was the best time that was made during the day.

Nannie Talbot won the third, fifth and sixth heats, and the race in 2:29½, 2:30, and 2:36. The following is a summary:
Nannie Talbot..... 2 2 1 2 1 1
Stranger..... 3 1 3 1 2 2
Jim Hill..... 1 3 2 3 4 3
Bonnie Wilkes..... 4 4 4 4 3 ..
Time, 2:32½, 2:28, 2:29½, 2:29½, 2:30, 2:36.

The purse was $400, $235 to the first horse, $125 to the second, and $40 to the third.

In the afternoon, the stallion, Alexander made two unsuccessful attempts to beat his record of 2:19. The first mile was trotted in 2:29½, and the second in 2:35.

PERSONALS.

Points About People Here and Elsewhere.

Mrs. Evan G. Ingles and children, of Lexington, are the guests of Dr. W. H. McGranaghan.

Mr. Conard Phister will take the place of Capt. Watt Shedd, on the Morning Mail for a week or two.

Miss Mollie Blanchard, accompanied by her brother, Henry, left yesterday to visit relatives at Cincinnati.

Mr. M. J. Higgins, formerly of this city, and now residing in Nashville, Tenn., is here on a short visit to his mother.

Miss Maggie Neu, of Ripley, O., after a pleasant visit of several days among friends and relatives in this city returned home to-day.

The marriage of Mr. R. A. Cochran, jr., and Miss Lottie T. Poyntz is announced to take place at the residence of the bride's parents next Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock.

James Norris of Fern Leaf, and Henry Marsh of Charleston Bottom left Sunday for Cleveland, O., to attend lectures at the Homoeopathic Medical Institute at that place.

The new crop of hemp at Lexington commands $4.50 while the old is held at $5.

Judge Slasher.

The Judge Slasher combination which is to appear in this city on the 28th inst., comes well-supported by press opinions. The play which is a new one, is highly spoken of as a characteristic American comedy that is destined to have a big run. The Columbus (O.) Times says:

The comedy drama of Judge Slasher was presented to a fair audience at Comstock's Opera House, last night. The heavy rain, just about the time of opening, no doubt prevented a larger attendance.

Mr. Francis C. Hamilton in his portrayal of the leading character of Judge Slasher, succeeded happily, and was encouraged by generous applause from the audience. Mr. Hamilton was well supported by the company.

Kendall's Spavin Cure.

The Most Successful Remedy ever discovered, as it is certain, it effects what does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From Rev. P. N. GRANGER.

Presiding Elder of the St. Albans District. ST. ALBANS, VT. Jan. 20, 1880.
DR. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentls:—In reply to your letter I will say that my experience with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure' has been very satisfactory indeed. Three or four years ago I procured a bottle of your agent, and with it, cured a horse of lameness caused by a spavin. Last season my horse became very lame and I turned him out for a few weeks when he became better, but when I put him on the road he grew worse, when I discovered that a ring-bone was forming, I procured a bottle of Kendall's Spavin Cure and with less than a bottle cured him so that he is not lame, neither can the bunch be found. Respectfully yours, P. N. GRANGER.

Perseverance Will Tell.

STROUGHTON, MASS. March 16, 1880.
B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gentls:—In justice to you and myself, I think I ought to let you know that I have removed two bone spavins with 'Kendall's Spavin Cure,' one very large one, don't know how long the spavin had been there. I have owned the horse eight months. It took me four months to take the large one off and two for the small one. I have used ten bottles. The horse is entirely well, not at all stiff, and no bunch to be seen or felt. This is a wonderful medicine. It is a new thing here, but it does for all what it has done for me its will be very great.

Respectfully yours, CHAS. E. PARKER.
KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach a every deep seated pain or to remove any bony growth or other enlargement, such as spavins, splints, curbs, callous, sprains, swellings, any lameness and all enlargements of the joints or limbs, or rheumatism in man and for any purpose for which a liniment is used for man or beast. It is now known to be the best liniment for man ever used, acting mild and yet certain in its effects.

Send address for illustrated Circular which we think gives positive proof of its virtues. No remedy has ever met with such unqualified success to our knowledge, for beast as well as man.

Price $1. per bottle, or six bottles for $5. ALL DRUGGISTS have it or can get it for you or it will be sent to any address on receipt of price by the proprietors, DR. B. J. KENDALL & CO. Enosburgh Falls, Vermont. s27d.

A Chicken Pie.

This favorite dish requires as a basis well-made pastry, which need not, however, be of the very richest sort. For a large family, or dinner company in a small family (say sixteen persons), a gallon baking-dish should be chosen of brown or white earthenware. Let the cook have ready killed four small but fat chickens, cut into quarters, the gizzards and livers being carefully included among the ingredients. Let them lie all night in a cool place, in water slightly salted. For pastry, allow one pound and a half of flour, six ounces of butter, and six ounces of lard. Take half the flour and make it up into a soft dough with a little cold water, a teaspoonful of salt, and a small portion of the butter and lard already measured out. Handle it as lightly as possible, and lay the dough upon your pastry-board as soon as it will stick together, and has been worked smooth. Roll it out thin, and with a knife put little bits of lard and butter all over the surface; dredge thickly over some of the reserved half of the flour; then fold the dough over, making the ends meet in the middle, and roll out again; repeat this until all the butter, flour and lard have been used up, each time dotting the whole surface over with butter and lard, and handling lightly. It should be rolled four times at least, to be properly flaky. The colder the pastry is kept during the process of making, the nicer it is, and to this end a marble slab conduces instead of a common biscuit board. Line your baking-dish with a layer of this pastry as soon as it is ready. Fill the dish up with the pieces of chicken, laying them a little carefully, that a nice morsel may come to each slice. Add two tablespoonfuls of butter (or one quarter of a pound, to be exact) cut into small pieces, and dredge the chicken plentifully with flour, that the gravy be not watery. Now add a teaspoon full of water, seasoning with pepper, salt, and parsley or celery. Now cover in the chicken with a top layer of pastry. Crimp it prettily all around the edges, and set in the stove to bake. Let the oven be steadily heated, but do not let the pastry get burned. The best made pie is spoiled by careless baking. One hour is enough to allow for the baking, if the chicken has been stewed a little first, which should always be done.—Harper's Bazar.

A Sly Old Horse.

Anent "The Blues," I have heard a charming story illustrative of the wonderful intelligence of some horses. One evening the officer on guard, hearing a noise in the stables, concluded that a horse must have got loose. He therefore went with a Corporal of the guard, and, looking through a keyhole saw an old troop-horse lifting up the lid of a corn-bin and munching away at the oats. The officer rattled the door by mistake. The old charger instantly cocked his ears, stole back to his stall, artfully slipped his head back into his halter, and awaited events as if nothing had happened. Seeing this, the officer and Corporal, pretending to be deceived, went out again. So soon, however, as the horse heard the lock turned upon them, he slipped his halter and attacked the corn-bin again. After this the crafty old warrior was firmly secured.—London Figaro.

—The late Rev. D. Eglington Barr, of St. Louis, bequeathed $5 to his daughter and the rest of his property to public charities, saying that she had been separated from him from her childhood, and adding: "Her mother, from whom I obtained a divorce July 25, 1865, having determined on the perfect alienation from me of said daughter, she has thus been nurtured among my personal enemies, has never lived with me, and I have failed to induce her to live among my friends, or to manifest, even by correspondence, the natural sympathy and affection of a daughter."—Courier-Journal.

—During the past year the American Bible Society issued from the Bible-House 1,094,108 copies of the Scriptures, and in foreign lands 430,665 copies, making a total of 1,524,773.
